

I Will Cure You of Rheumatism

No pay until You know it

After 2,000 experiments, I have learned how to cure Rheumatism. Not to turn bony joints into flesh again; that is impossible. But I can cure the disease always, at any state, and forever.

I ask for no money. Simply write me a postal and I will send you an order on your nearest druggist for six bottles of Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Cure, for every druggist keeps it. Use it for a month, and if it does what I claim pay your druggist $5.50 for it. If it doesn't I will pay him myself.

I have no samples. Any medicine that can affect Rheumatism with but a few doses must be drugged to the verge of danger. I use no such drugs. It is folly to take them. You must get the disease out of the blood.

My remedy does that, even in the most difficult, obstinate cases. No matter how impossible this seems to you, I know it and I take the risk. I have cured tens of thousands of cases in this way, and my records show that 39 out of 40 who get those six bottles pay, and pay gladly. I have learned that people in general are honest with a physician who cures them. That is all I ask. If I fail I don't expect a penny from you.

Simply write me a postal card or letter. Let me send you an order for the medicine. Take it for a month, for it won't harm you anyway. If it cures, pay $5.50. I leave that entirely to you. I will mail you a book that tells how I do it. Address Dr. Shoop, Box 515, Racine, Wis.

Mild cases, not chronic, are often cured by one or two bottles. At all druggists.

The South African War.

The South African war has entered in its third year, and it has been in no ways changed by Lord Kitchener's last proclamation. The British are surprised how the Boers' supply of ammunition holds out. They can hardly get it from outside their country and the general belief is that it represents captures from the British columns, which are not reported. Convoys are frequently rushed for no other purpose than getting ammunition, and then they may obtain supplies from Cape Colony, which they have recently pen-

Treatment for Hog Cholera.

The success made in treating Hog Cholera is becoming more evident each day. Dr. J. H. Snoddy of Alton, Ill., spends the most of his time in treating fine herds which are diseased. He goes into the pens where hogs are dying fast and stops the disease in a few days. He will send full particulars of his remedy, a report of the recent Ohio test, pictures and endorsements of 25 prominent breeders and his new book, revised, "Treatise on Hogs," free to anyone sending him their name and address.

etrated farther than at any time since the war commenced. The effect on British finances is most disheartening. Consols, which before the war sold for 114, are now quoted at 92. As an index to the costliness of modern war it is noted that the increase in England's public debt, since this little South African war began, has been nearly one-fourth as great as its total increase during the period of the great Napoleonic wars, from 1802 to 1815.—Pittsburg Post.

Be More Specific.

Almost every day some republican of more or less prominence rushes into print with the statement that he is in favor of continuing the policy inaugurated by the late President McKinley. The trouble with these declarations is that they are entirely too general. If these believers in the policy of McKinley would be more specific and tell us something definite that they are in favor of doing, it would be more satisfactory and enlightening. A mere statement of approval amounts to nothing. We have reached a point at which something must be done.—Washington Times.

God Keep Thy Life.

Thy little feet know not the way to go,
And thorns may wound them in a world of strife;
I can but pray—because I love you so:
"God keep thy life."

For, looking backward on the vanished years,
I see my stumbling feet where earth was rife
With dangers; and I pray, while fall my tears,
"God keep thy life."

For I have known the bitterness of loss,
And oft have fallen in the o'erwhelming strife,
Thou, too, must suffer—thou must bear thy cross:
"God keep thy life."
—Frank L. Stanton in Atlanta Constitution.

Why Hull Hesitates.

It is altogether probable that Congressman's Hull's views as to the undesirability of foreign merchants operating in the Philippines are colored by his own interests as president of the Philippine Development and Lumber Company, but whether they are or not, he seems to have called attention to a state of affairs which, if not as represented, should not be permitted to continue longer than it will take congress to provide a remedy. If the present status of the laws permits foreigners to do business in the islands while Americans are barred out, the law cannot be changed too quickly.—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

Gleanings of Fact.

E is the most common letter. In Bolivia 12 peaks of the Cordilleras de la Paz rise to over 20,000 feet. A watermelon on exhibition recently at Camden, Ark., weighed 76½ lbs. From the German colony of Ebenezzer, near Savannah, in the year 1749, over 1,000 pounds of silk were exported. Ecuador has a record in volcanoes—three active, five dormant, twelve extinct. Eleven of these peaks have never been climbed. Pens of hardened gutta percha have been repeatedly tried in this country and England, but have not met with success.

MR. WEBSTER DAVIS' BOOK.

This work is the outcome of a visit to the Transvaal, made by Mr. Webster Davis while he was Assistant Secretary of the Interior, under Mr. McKinley's first administration, and as a result of which he broke his relations with the Republican party and affiliated himself with the opposition. The author vehemently arraigns the British government for the Transvaal war. Whether the reader agrees with the author or not, he will be interested in his presentation of the Boer side of the case. Milton said that truth could not suffer so long as she was left free to combat error. The illustrations were all taken on the spot, either by Mr. Davis or by some of his friends, and they certainly form a unique collection of South African pictures. Cloth, large octavo (6x9), 400 pages altogether, printed on coated paper, beautifully illustrated by over eighty full-page half-tones, attractively bound. Two dollars, carriage prepaid.
